

February 16, 2011

Dear Preschool Parents:

Today we had an officer from the Gresham Police make a presentation to the preschoolers about the job of a police officer. This accompanies our theme of community helpers during the month of February. The children looked at a coloring book the officer gave them as he discussed the occupation.

The officer asked that parents discuss with their children the topic of stranger danger. He did not go over with the children this topic. Instead, he requested that I send home the green booklet for you to use with your child. This is an important issue to stress with your child but we feel you know best how to present it to your child.

The Seniors made police officers with their own pictures today (on display in hallway), while the Juniors made police hats they are bringing home.

The children were also given a badge to wear today that needs to be removed from clothing prior to laundering. The children did also check out his police car, which they thoroughly enjoyed!

Next Thursday, we will have a visit from the firefighters (this is always tentative depending on if they have an emergency they need to respond to at that time).

NO SCHOOL TOMORROW, THURSDAY FEB. 17TH, AS WE ARE HOLDING OUR DAY PARENT/TEACHER CONFERENCES. We will see the children back next Tuesday, Feb. 22nd.

Have a good weekend!

Karla Hills, Preschool Director

February 16, 2011

Dear Preschool Parents:

Today we had an officer from the Gresham Police make a presentation to the preschoolers about the job of a police officer. This accompanies our theme of community helpers during the month of February. The children looked at a coloring book the officer gave them as he discussed the occupation.

The officer asked that parents discuss with their children the topic of stranger danger. He did not go over with the children this topic. Instead, he requested that I send home the green booklet for you to use with your child. This is an important issue to stress with your child but we feel you know best how to present it to your child.

The Seniors made police officers with their own pictures today (on display in hallway), while the Juniors made police hats they are bringing home.

The children were also given a badge to wear today that needs to be removed from clothing prior to laundering. The children did also check out his police car, which they thoroughly enjoyed!

Next Thursday, we will have a visit from the firefighters (this is always tentative depending on if they have an emergency they need to respond to at that time).

NO SCHOOL TOMORROW, THURSDAY FEB. 17TH, AS WE ARE HOLDING OUR DAY PARENT/TEACHER CONFERENCES. We will see the children back next Tuesday, Feb. 22nd.

Have a good weekend!

Karla Hills, Preschool Director